

Constantine and the Week

Caesar Augustus, more commonly referred to as Constantine, in A.D. 321-325 established a new and uniquely stylized solar planetary calendar. This was the first step necessary for the development of His new religion (Christianity) and worship rhythm crafted outside the boundaries of Scriptural constraints. Yet, all the while appearing to honor the story of the crucifixion and resurrection of our Messiah. From the black and white marble halls of Rome, it was fashioned and realized at the five year summit meeting of the notorious Council of Nicaea. Upon this premise, the repulsive Scriptural astro-luni-solar calendar of the Jews was taken captive and replaced with the pagan solar calendar as a tribute to Constantine's newly created god, "JESUS CHRIST." Together, the solar planetary calendar and the introduction of His new god, became Rome's ready replacements, of Yahusha the true Messiah, along with His pre-ordained worship rhythm throughout Scripture.

Many other doctrines were spawned at that council, including the Trinitarian doctrine and Easter. Each were replacement theologies of the Roman pagan kind. All that was left to do, was to sell it to the world. And for those who weren't buying, he utilized force under penalty of death. Thus it was, that the planetary week with its unending cycle replaced the Scriptural week, which had previously always been fixed to the count from the New Moon.

In 321 A.D., Constantine, emperor of Rome . . . by civil enactments made "the venerable day of the Sun," which day was then "notable for its veneration," the weekly rest day of the empire . . . The enforcement of the weekly observance of Sunday gave official recognition to the week of seven days and resulted in the introduction of it into the official civil calendar of Rome. The Romans passed that calendar down to us, and in it we have still the ancient planetary titles of the days of the week. Odom, op. cit., p. 243-244, emphasis supplied.

Forty years later, in A.D. 363-364, under the rulership of Julian, the last Constantinian Emperor, the Council Central to Sabbatarian doctrine is the record of Canon 29 from that Council, which is falsely taught as stating the following:

*Christians shall not Judaize and be idle on Saturday, but shall work on that day; but the Lord's Day they shall especially honor, and, as being Christians, shall, if possible, do no work on that day. If however, they are found Judaizing, they shall be shut out from Christ.*

According to Karl J. von Hefele, a Catholic bishop, in his book, History of the Councils of the Church from the Original Documents, states that the word "Saturday" (dies Saturni) does not exist either in the Greek or Latin text. Rather, the word "Saturday" was supplied in the English translation in place of the word *Sabbato, meaning Sabbath. Here is the original Latin text:

Quod non oportet Christianos Judaizare et otiare in Sabbato, sed operari in eodem die. Preferentes autem in veneratione Dominicum Diem si vacre voluerint, ut Christiani hoc faciat; quod si reperti fuerint Judaizare Anathema sint a Christo.

At the time the Julian calendar was being enforced upon the early believers for religious purposes, absolutely no one confused the word Sabbato with dies Saturni. Simply everyone at that time recognized these to be unique names for two separate days, as found on two distinctly different calendar systems. It is only as this fact of history has been forgotten as it was overwritten during translation of the record, that Saturday has been assumed to be the seventh-day Sabbath of Scripture. Partly because it was adopted by the Jews in conformity to Constantinian demands. Couple with this the promotion of the entire Roman calendar system throughout the world, and we can see why all the world has now followed the Beast into a fraudulent pagan worship system. How crafty was this?

These . . . eventually led Jewish rabbis to call Saturn "Shabbti," "the star of the Sabbath." It was not until the first century of our era, when the planetary week had become an established institution, that the Jewish Sabbath seems always to have corresponded to Saturn's Day [Saturday]. Rest Days, p.244 by Hutton Webster

This planetary week was paganism's counterfeit of the true, Biblical week instituted by the Creator in the beginning of earth's history. In the counterfeit week employed in ancient paganism "the venerable day of the Sun" was esteemed by the heathen above the other six days because it was regarded as sacred to the Sun, the chief of the planetary deities . . . Just as the true Sabbath is inseparably linked with the Biblical week, so the false Sabbath of pagan origin needed a weekly cycle. Thus we have found that the planetary week of paganism is Sunday's twin sister, and that the two counterfeit institutions were linked together ... Odom, op. cit., p. 243-244, emphasis supplied.

When the historical and time-centric facts of the Julian (and later Gregorian) calendar are comprehended, it becomes apparent that Sunday is not the only spurious worship day established upon paganism. For also is Saturday, dies Saturni. The mere fact it is the seventh-day of the man-made Roman week, sets it in opposition to the true seventh-day lunar Sabbath of Scripture. By extension, both Saturday and Sunday are fruit of a fraudulent calendar system that is built upon the premise of only two kinds of days instead of three. The mere fact that the New Moon day exists, breaks the cycle of weeks every 29-30 days. As a result, neither Saturday nor Sunday were implemented by our Creator in the beginning, nor can they be ambassadors for the first week of Creation. Read more on Three Kinds of Days.

So now let me ask you— is there weighty evidence that the continuous weekly cycle was fabricated by man and not ordained by the Creator? Yes.

We have all been naïve victims of Roman propaganda, an altogether familiar echo from the prophetic WORD identifying that “ALL the world would follow after the Beast” (Revelation 13:3). This in no way alludes to some of the world, but ALL. We can now see how this does not exclude Seventh-day Adventists, Jews, or other Sabbatarian group, as Saturday CANNOT be the antidote to receiving the MARK OF THE BEAST, but in contrast may be the very MARK itself.

Once presented with the other half of the story, we are able to see the full picture and make an informed decision to either remain captives of the Beast Power via this witty calendar invention, or use the keys of the Creator's astro-luni-solar calendar, to unlock the bars to our freedom and enter through the East Gate (Ezekiel 46:1-3) into His Eternal Kingdom, before it's too late.

It is only as mankind has adapted to the modern continuous weekly cycle that we have accepted its awkward detachment from its monthly cycles. Strikingly, it is because both the modern month and week were cut from the same artificial Roman cloth that they are both wholly severed from the Creator's celestial time-piece ordained in the shamayim, exposing them as imposters.

“The weeks do not continue in a regular cycle regardless of the moon. Each month has four weeks, their beginning with the New Moon. I have no doubt that this was the old Hebrew system. Babylonian Menologies and the Semitic Calendars, p. 89

The lunar weekly cycle on the other hand was fully orchestrated by the perpetual and harmonious rhythm of the sun, moon, and stars. The evidence is in the mere fact that the New Moon day refreshes and breaks each lunar month into four weekly cycles. The extra work day occurring at the end of some months belongs to the month and year and does not affect the cycle of weeks. Thus it is that the Creator designed that His true and vital seventh-day Sabbaths would forever be demarcated by the 8th, 15th, 22nd, and 29th days of His astronomical lunar months as beacons by the shamayim (heavens) at creation.

While it is true that each person has the freedom of choice to worship according to the dictates of his own heart, we have just illustrated that keeping either Saturday or Sunday as consistent sacred days is not according to the dictates of the times and laws of the Creator as defined in Scripture. Only one week model is the fruit of time, a true product of Creation as revealed to mankind by the LIGHTS that rule in the shamayim. (Genesis 1:14; Leviticus 23; Isaiah 66:23; Ezekiel 46:1)

We have the choice to continue to cling to a pagan “Saturday” Sabbath theory that highlights a purported week that cycles without end since creation, which cannot be supported from Scripture either by name or by its rhythm. We have the option to remain content with the tradition of Sunday sacredness, but according to the facts of Scripture, history and astronomy, both Saturday and Sunday highlight the fraudulent calendar and falsified week cycle, and are a sure fire ticket to receive the Mark of the Beast. For Scripture is the revealer of the lunar Sabbath truth, and astronomy, and history support it.

It may be that the calendar you choose will determine your destiny.
