

Happy Rosh Hashanah (New Year's Day) and Full New Moon Day, all who worship Yahuah Alahim and Yahusha haMashiach on their Kadosh (set-apart) Lunar New Moons and Sabbaths!

Today is Day One of the Creator's authentic First Lunar Month of the YEAR 5,993 although coincident with the Roman Gregorian calendar solar Wednesday, 04-24-2024.

Rosh Hashanah is identified in Exodus 12:1-4 as the start of the year 14 days before Passover. Our Creator's years are measured from spring to spring. Each month, it is an awe-inspiring sight to watch the full moon rise in the East and make its way along the east-west time continuum under our Creator's tireless direction. Then to see with your own eyes that moment when the sun's first rays shine forth to greet the descending full moon. They greet each other with a nod and agreement that indeed, this moment, while both visible from opposite compass points, marks the start of the new lunar month. Honoring His New Moons as declared from His sacred Torah Law shows Him who desires to enter in through the pearly gates of His Eternal Kingdom government. I hope to see you all there! HalleluYah!

“Blessed are those who hear the joyful call to worship, for they will walk in the light of your presence, YAHUAH. They rejoice all day long in your wonderful reputation. They exult in your righteousness.”
Psalms 89:15-16

Kerrie's Comments

In October of 2023, Roma Downey of the TV show "Touched by an Angel," published a children's book titled, "A Message in the Moon." This beautiful picture book illustrates the unique relationship between children and their parents and how this special love connects them always, from near or far. It was inspired by the early loss of her own mother when she was ten years old and her father's sweet and gentle gesture of love. Here it is in Roma's own words:

“Many years ago, when I was just a teenager preparing to leave Ireland for school in England, I began to feel anxious. This was before the Internet and cellphones, and to be so far away from my father with no way of immediately reaching him made me feel a bit nervous. My mom had passed when I was only ten, so my daddy was my everything. One night, just a few days before I was scheduled to leave, he took me outside to the backyard. It was a clear night with a full moon. And he said, “Roma, wherever you are in the world, that moon will be shining on you. So whenever you feel alone, always look into the night sky, and you’ll be reminded of how much I love you. I’ll leave a message for you in the moon.” I hugged him, so grateful for his sweet gentleness and his constant care and attention.

As the first full moon ascended after I had settled in England, I went outside and looked up at the moon, and I instantly felt my dad’s love. It was a great comfort. At that time, I even created this little rhyme: “Moon, Moon, Moon so bright, take our message in your light. Then shine on us so we will know that we are loved wherever we go.” This little verse became the inspiration for this book all these years later. Unfortunately, my beloved father died during my final year in drama school. In my deep grief, I was so worried that since his spirit had departed from this earth, I would not be able to feel his love in the moon. That he would no longer be able to send messages. That I would see the moon and not feel his presence, as I always had before. I was almost afraid to go outside and look. But I finally walked out to the very backyard where he had promised his moon messages. I looked up at the big, bright moon, and sure enough, I felt him—his quiet love, so silent yet so strong. I picked up his message: “Wherever you go in the world, Roma, the same moon will always be shining down on you. So never forget, no matter where you are, I will always be there, loving you.” Tears streamed down my face as I felt his love so powerfully. The moon has been a beautiful symbol of comfort to me all these years, and I’ve shared this message with my own daughter, Reilly. Even though we have the technology to be literally at each other’s fingertips no matter how many miles may be between us, I sometimes text her when we’re apart, even now that she is grown, and say, “Go look at the moon! I left a message for you there.”

My intention in writing this book is to offer that same reassurance to your children. If ever your children are anxious about you traveling for work, or about going to Grandma’s house overnight, or nervous about a first sleepover with a friend, you can read this sweet story about the message in the moon and bring comfort to them. They will carry this image with them for their whole lives, like my own daughter has. And the constant moonlight will forever remind them they are not alone and they are dearly loved. For the truth is, we never walk alone.

“He will cover you with his feathers, and under his wings you will find refuge; his faithfulness will be your shield and rampart” (Psalm 91:4).

Reading with your children is so valuable. These are precious moments to share together. May God bless your family, and I hope you enjoy A Message in the Moon.”

Love and light,
Roma

As you read Roma’s short story were you able to draw the parallels she presented to the Scripture’s reality of Yahuah and Yahusha’s message of love in the full moon?

And although, I don't believe Scripture teaches those who have passed on can send us messages, Scripture tells us the full moon was ordained for the very purpose of sending us messages of love, faithfulness, compassion, unending and tender care from our Creator and Savior. But even more than that it carries with it the PROMISE of SALVATION through Yahusha the Messiah by way of the mechanism of the specific LUNAR APPOINTED FEAST DAYS. All of which are dated from the ROSH HASHANAH (New Year's Day in spring), the first FULL MOON of the Year (which is today).

This short narrative by Roma Downey so beautifully correlates the unique relationship between Yahuah and Yahusha's children and their love to their heavenly father. His tender love made manifest in the FULL MOON connects them always to the source of love, forgiveness, and saving power, from near or far.

May this year 5993, be your best year ever as you seek the Father of Lights and may His FULL MOON rise in your hearts as you seek faithfulness to Him.

Let the one who hears the Savior say come,
And let the one who is thirsty come.
Behold! The Alpha and Omega, beginning and the end.
In Him we will never, never thirst again.

HaRuach v'hakala Ommim bo,
(The Spirit and the Bride say come,)
HaRuach v'hakala Ommim bo,
(The Spirit and the Bride say come,)
The Spirit and the Bride, they say come,
Come, oh Come.

Bo-o-o, bo-o-o, bo-o-o, bo-o-o
(Come, come, come, come)
The Spirit and the Bride, say come

HaRuach v'hakala Ommim bo,
(The Spirit and the Bride say come,)
HaRuach v'hakala Ommim bo,
(The Spirit and the Bride say come,)

May the blessings of Yahuah Alahim (and Yahusha haMashiach) be upon you as we bid farewell till next Shabbat. May His divine light shine upon you that you may receive His promised bountiful grace.

Barak hashem YAHUSHA haMashiach! (Bless the name of YAHUSHA the Messiah!)
