

Shabbat Shalom, all who worship Yahuah Alahim and Yahusha haMashiach on their Kadosh (set-apart) New/Renewed Moons, Lunar Sabbaths, and Feast Days according to the full moon as the start of His lunar months!

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FUb6QjzvRXU>

Today is the 29th day of our Creator's First Lunar Month count, in which the year begins in spring. It is also the authentic fourth lunar Sabbath of the month. It looks like 01-29-5995. It coincides with the Roman Gregorian calendar planetary date of Thurs, 04-30-2025.

Our Creator placed His full moon beacon as the original New Moon and the start of His months, high above for all to see. All praise to Yahuah Alahim for His steadfast love and compassion for His children and His patience in restoring His lost truths in preparation for the Second Coming of His Son, Yahusha haMashiach (the Messiah). Simply because the full moon as New Moon, with its count to Lunar Sabbaths and annual Feast Days, is not popular among the Rabbinical Pharisee Jews or the Romanized Christian churches today, does in no way diminish its LIGHT OF TRUTH shining from the pages of Scripture and His Eternal Throne. Only Yahuah's Ruach (power, presence, and provision) gives those who seek Him with all their hearts "eyes to see and ears to hear." Ask Him today to reveal His New Moon and lunar Sabbath to you, and see how your life will change as your soul temple is synchronized to His for all eternity.

“Blessed are those who hear the joyful call to worship, for they will walk in the light of your presence, Yahuah. They rejoice all day long in your wonderful reputation. They exult in your righteousness.” Psalms 89:15-16

THE MATRIX

By Jonathan Cahn

We were outside at night and, as we often enjoyed doing, looking up at the stars.

“Your life began in darkness,” he said, “in the darkness of the womb. It was once all you knew, your entire life, your entire world. If you had been asked then to describe life, you would describe it as being dark, warm, and wet. And if someone tried to tell you that there was more to life, another life, another world, outside the womb, a world of stars and grass, of flowers and faces, of sandcastles and setting suns, what would you have thought?”

“I guess I wouldn’t have believed it. I wouldn’t have been able to fathom it.”

“But would there be a way that you could have known that this other life, this world beyond the womb, actually existed? What evidence would you have had within the womb of that which was beyond the womb?”

“I don’t know.”

“You,” said the teacher. “You would be the evidence... you, dwelling in darkness yet with eyes made to see color and light... with no ground to walk on, yet with feet made to run ...with no air to breathe and yet with lungs made to breathe air and a voice box with which to speak into the air ...with no one’s hand to hold, yet with two hands made to hold and be held by the hand of another. You yourself would be the evidence of life beyond your life in the womb and the world beyond your world. Your very being was the evidence of a world yet to come, and yet you were surrounded by a much smaller world that was unable to answer what was within you.”

“And this reveals...”

“When you hear of a world beyond this world and a life beyond this life, when you hear of heaven, you’re hearing of it as a child in the womb. You’ve never seen it or touched it. And yet everything within you was made to know this world and live within it... a heart made for a love that is perfect and without condition, a soul yearning for that which is eternal, a spirit longing to dwell in a place of no death, no fear, no tears, no darkness, and evil. And yet you live in a world of imperfection, of corruption, of pain and evil, of darkness and the absence of life. And as it was in the womb, so too this world can never answer the longings of your heart or the purpose for which you came into existence. And every tear, every sorrow, every disappointment, every unfulfilled longing is just a reminder that you're not home, and that you were made for something more, to be a child of heaven... and that this life is only the beginning of real life and the matrix of the world to come.”

The Mission: Take all the unfulfilled longings, needs, and desires of your life and turn them away from the worldly and to the heavenly. Psalms 139:13-16; Romans 8:22-23

Disclaimer: “The Book of Mysteries” by Jonathan Cahn presents a series of lessons he attributes to “The Teacher” in the land of Yasharal (Israel). While we do not affirm all of Cahn’s interpretations or theological positions, we welcome the insights that harmonize with Scripture.

Kerrie’s Korner:

I will seek to complete the calendars very soon, though this season has been especially full as we navigate a move alongside my husband’s stroke and ongoing challenges with dementia. Your prayers and thoughtfulness have been a real source of strength and encouragement during this time. I don’t know what we would have done without the supreme and untiring help from my brother, Marlan.

We are trusting that Yahuah will continue to guide each step and provide what is needed in His perfect timing.

Not long ago, the world experienced a season few could have imagined: the Covid-19 era. Daily life was reshaped almost overnight. Simple freedoms were restricted, human connection was limited, and many found themselves navigating uncertainty, isolation, and the quiet weight of unseen pressures. Even now, the lingering effects remain. For many, it has become increasingly difficult to speak with confidence amid growing opposition, social pressures, and the gradual erosion of freedoms once assumed secure.

In many ways, it felt as though humanity has been pressed into a confined space, where clarity is dimmed and direction uncertain. Yet unlike the safety of the womb, this narrowing does not nurture life, but instead reveals a world struggling under the weight of its own unraveling. We are witnessing a steady decline in the very qualities that sustain healthy humanity: truth, peace, patience, love, and self-control, principles that once formed the foundation of stable societies.

Recognizing this condition is not an exercise in despair, but in discernment. To name what took place is to measure it, and to understand the depth of the transformation that occurred across nations and cultures. What was once anchored in enduring moral order continues to be increasingly displaced, and the effects are visible in both public life and private hearts.

Yet it is precisely within this contrast that hope becomes clearer. The promises recorded in Scripture do not fade with the shifting of the world; rather, they stand in greater relief. They speak of a better country, a place beyond sorrow, suffering, and death. They remind us that love has not been abandoned, that peace is not lost, and that joy is not extinguished, but secured in the faithfulness of our Creator.

The life, death, and resurrection of the Messiah affirm that these promises are not distant ideals, but established realities. He declared that He would return, and that those who seek Him and desire above all to walk in His ways will be gathered into that promised inheritance. What lies ahead is not the end of the story, but its true beginning, a restoration prepared from the foundation of the world.

“Let not your heart be troubled; you believe in Alahim, believe also in Me [Messiah]. In My Father’s house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you to Myself; that where I am, there you may be also. John 14:1-3

It is the place we can't conceive of, yet the proof is in us self-evident, for we were made in the image of YAHUAH Alahim to walk in the LIGHT of TRUTH as His Righteous (Zadok) ambassadors of Scripture's Torah Law and Testimony. We were never created to be in fear, pain, sorrow, suffering, or die, but to live eternally full of the fruits of the Ruach ha Kadosh (spirit) to the honor of our Creator that we may worship Him out of the fullness of joy in our hearts. "Unto Him be the glory and honor forever and ever."

"And every creature which is in heaven...and all that are in them, I heard saying: "Blessing and honor and glory and power Be to Him who sits on the throne, And to the Lamb, forever and ever!" Then the four living creatures said, "Amen!" And the twenty-four elders fell down and worshiped Him who lives forever and ever. Revelation 5:13-14

While I can only imagine because I see through a glass darkly... I choose to trust that His marvelous story is true. Will you join me today and choose for yourself the eternal Kingdom prepared for those who love the Father Yahuah Alahim and His Son, who paid the ultimate price that you and I may live forever with them? It will be a place of beauty, righteousness, and perfect peace, where death is swallowed up in victory. HalleluYAH!!!

Step-by-Step Guide for Locating the Full New Moon Day

Prayer:

Heavenly Father (Abba) Yahuah Alahim,
in the name of your Son, Yahusha haMashiach, we come before You with hearts that sense we were made for more than this present world, longing for the light beyond the shadows we now walk in.

Thank You for forming us with eyes to see, hearts to love, and spirits that reach toward eternity, even while we dwell in a place that cannot fully satisfy what You have placed within us.

In moments of confusion, restriction, and weariness, remind us that these are but passing conditions, and that our true home is with You, prepared from the foundation of the world.

Teach us to lift our unfulfilled longings away from the temporal and fix them upon Your promises, trusting in the finished work of Yahusha the Messiah.

Strengthen us to walk in Your truth, bearing the fruits of Your Ruach, even as the world around us falters and fades.

And anchor our hope in the day when we will step beyond this present veil into Your eternal Kingdom, where sorrow is no more and death is swallowed up in victory, HalleluYAH!

Barak hashem Yahusha haMashiach!
(Bless the name of Yahusha the Messiah!)
