

Happy New Moon Day to all who worship Yahuah Alahim and Yahusha haMashiach on their Kadosh (set apart) Lunar New Moons and Sabbaths!

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FUb6QjzvRXU>

Today is Day One of the Creator's authentic Second Lunar Month in which the year begins in the spring. It looks like 02-01-5995. It coincides with the Roman Gregorian solar calendar Sat, 05-02-2026.

Each month, it is awe-inspiring to watch the full moon rise in the East and make its way along the east-west time continuum under the Creator's tireless direction. Then, see with your own eyes that moment when the sun's first rays shine forth to greet the descending full moon before it sets in the west. They greet each other with a nod and an agreement that this moment, visible from opposite coordinates, marks the start of the new lunar month. Honoring His New Moons, as declared from His sacred Torah Law, shows Him who desires to enter through the pearly gates of His Eternal Kingdom government. I hope to see you there! HalleluYah!

 Psalms 89:15-16

THE MYSTERY OF THE SECOND SCROLL

By Jonathan Cahn

It was a warm and windy afternoon. We were sitting outside on the ground. The teacher was reading from a small scroll.

“This is one of the hamesh migillot, the five scrolls. Each one is read publicly during the year. And this, the second scroll, is the Book of Ruth.”

“What’s it about?”

“It’s the story of the love between a Jew and a Gentile. But behind the story is a prophetic revelation that involves the entire world, the mystery of Yasharal (Israel), the church, and the age itself.”

“The Book of Ruth begins with a Jewish woman named Naomi. She will represent the nation of Israel. Naomi is married to a man named Elimelech. Elimelech means My God is King. So Israel is joined in a covenant of marriage to God, her King. In the course of the story, Naomi finds herself with no husband and living in exile from her homeland, a stranger in a foreign land, an existence of pain and sorrow. So too, the Jewish people, for the last two thousand years, have found themselves living in exile from their homeland, strangers in foreign lands, in an existence of pain and sorrow. But in the days of Naomi's exile, a Gentile woman named Ruth becomes, through Naomi, part of the nation of Israel and is brought to the knowledge of Yahuah Alahim (God). So in the days of Israel's exile in the nations, those who are not of Israel, Gentiles, are, through the Jewish people, brought to the God of Israel and are spiritually joined to His nations."

"The church," I said, "those who are born again. They are Ruth."

"Ruth becomes Naomi's adopted daughter."

"So those of the new covenant are the adopted children of Israel. Israel is their mother. And the church is Israel's daughter."

"At the end of the story, Ruth bears a child who becomes the blessing of Naomi's life. So through Naomi came Ruth's redemption, and through Ruth comes Naomi's blessing."

"So it is through the Jewish people," I said, "that blessing has come to the Gentiles...and it will be through the Gentiles that blessings will come to Israel."

"Yes," said the teacher. "And so those who are blessed with salvation are blessed through Israel, and to Israel, they are joined. They are Ruth, and Israel is their Naomi. And only when Ruth blesses Naomi and Naomi blesses Ruth will the circle and the story be complete."

The Mission: Be a Ruth today. Pray for and bless your Naomi. Pray and bless Yasharal (Israel) and the Jewish people. Help bring their story to completion.

Disclaimer: "The Book of Mysteries" by Jonathan Cahn presents a series of lessons he attributes to "The Teacher" in the land of Yasharal (Israel). While we do not affirm all of Cahn's interpretations or theological positions, we welcome the insights that harmonize with Scripture.

Kerrie's Korner:

Who is Yasharal (Israel) Today?

What a profound and beautiful picture unfolds within the story of Naomi and Ruth. It invites us to pause and consider a deeper question: Who truly represents Yasharal (Israel) today?

It may be that Naomi represents those who walk in faithful trust and obedience to Yahuah Alahim, while Ruth reflects those from among the nations who come to love and follow the true Messiah. Yet, as we explore this more closely, we are gently led to consider that these identities may not be defined by outward affiliation or tradition alone, but by something far more foundational and enduring.

Scripture offers a clear and steady measure:

“To the Torah [teachings] and to the testimony [of the Messiah]: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them.” Isaiah 8:20

These two pillars, obedience to the Torah and the testimony of the Messiah, form a unified witness of truth that has remained consistent from the beginning.

The Nation of Israel Today

You see, the Nation of Israel has been in and out of faithfulness and obedience to Yahuah Alahim from the beginning until today, as recorded in Scripture and later in History. It was because of their unfaithfulness and disobedience to the Torah Law teachings that they denied Yahusha haMashiach as their Messiah nearly 2,000 years ago. They soon went into Roman captivity, wherein they adopted the Talmud and all the oral Babylonian traditions, and were additionally stripped of their ancient calendar truths, leaving them unrecognizable according to Yahuah Alahim's Torah Law standards. Have they repented of these errors? No! Today, they continue in the adopted traditions from their captivity, where they were in deep disobedience and unfaithfulness. Simply because they claim they have been honored by Yahuah and restored to the land of Israel is of no consequence.

Yahuah Alahim knows all and sees all, and He alone will bless anyone who repents and returns to His ancient paths of truth found in the Torah Law (teachings). It is only when His people are restored and obedient to His oracles of truth that He can bless them and that His prophetic word may be fulfilled in them in the end times to the glory of the whole earth.

So it is sad to say, but the reality is that today those who claim to be the Nation of Israel, who carry the DNA of His original “chosen people,” hold not to the two principles required: 1) Obedience to the unadulterated Torah Law teachings; 2) and have the testimony of the Messiah. They have obscured the teachings of the Tanakh, the Torah Law, and the prophets through a continued tradition of adhering first to the Oral Traditions of the Babylonian Mystics. They continue to absolve themselves through the cover-up of the part they played in their denial and crucifixion of the Messiah in the 1st century A.D. They continue to promote a false calendar system that is out of sync with the worship rhythm of the Most High, Yahuah Alahim, with every time unit. They simply don’t qualify for either of the requirements as Yasharal (Israel).

A Sobering Reflection

Throughout history, the people of Israel have walked a path marked by both faithfulness and struggle, as faithfully recorded in Scripture. Seasons of obedience brought blessing, while seasons of departure brought hardship and dispersion. This pattern invites not condemnation, but humility, reminding us that all who seek Yahuah must continually return to His ways.

In the same spirit, many within modern Judaism hold deep reverence for the Scriptures, yet differ in their understanding of the Messiah. Likewise, within Christianity, there is a sincere devotion to the Messiah, yet often a distancing from the Torah’s foundational teachings.

Rather than casting judgment, these realities invite a deeper question for every heart: Have we, in any way, set aside part of the whole counsel of Scripture?

Shared Journey of Restoration

If Naomi and Ruth together complete the story, then perhaps their relationship points not to division, but to restoration.

Those who come to faith are indeed grafted into something ancient and enduring. And those entrusted with the oracles of Yahuah carry a calling that has never been withdrawn. The beauty of the story is not in separation, but in the eventual harmony between the two.

Yet this harmony does not come through tradition alone, nor through inherited identity. It comes through a return—a sincere and wholehearted turning—to the fullness of truth as revealed in Scripture.

Returning to the Ancient Paths

Over time, both Jewish and Christian traditions have developed layers of interpretation, practice, and emphasis. Some of these may reflect truth, while others may invite reexamination. The call of Scripture is not to defend tradition, but to seek alignment with Yahuah's Word in its purity.

This includes a thoughtful reconsideration of:

- The role of the Torah as instruction
- The identity and testimony of the Messiah
- The appointed times and their sacred worship rhythm

These are not merely historical details, but living patterns woven into the Creator's design.

An Invitation for Today

The restoration of truth is not dependent upon institutions, but upon individuals who are willing to listen, to seek, and to follow.

Each person, guided by the Spirit of Yahuah, may choose to lay aside anything that does not align with His Word and return to the ancient paths with humility and joy.

In doing so, they become part of the unfolding story, one in which Ruth blesses Naomi, and Naomi blesses Ruth, until the circle is complete.

And in that restoration, there is covering, not of tradition, but of righteousness, granted through Yahusha the Messiah.

The Hebrew Messiah in Scripture . . .

1. Never abolished the TORAH Law of Instructions.
2. Never spoke against the Ten Commandments.
3. Never worshiped on Saturday or Sunday .
4. Never began His DAY at SUNSET or MIDNIGHT.
5. Never bowed down to idols.
6. Never celebrated Christmas or Easter.
7. Never called His Father "LORD, God, or Adoni".
8. Never created the Christian Religion.
9. Was never called "Jesus or Iesous."
10. Was NEVER born on December 25.
11. Never died on Good Friday or rose on Easter Sun.

Rather He consistently . . .

1. Read and quoted from the TORAH Law.
2. Honored the Ten Commandments.
3. Counted week days and Sabbaths from New Moons.
4. Began His DAY at SUNRISE.
5. Worshiped the Eternal YAHUAH Alahim alone.
6. Honored & kept only the New Moon Days, Sabbaths and Kadosh prophetic appointed lunar assemblies.
7. Called His Father YAHUAH Alahim.
8. Called His faithful to be adopted into Yasharal.
9. As the promised Messiah, He fulfilled the Hebrew Scripture requirements with a Hebrew name, and the unique Hebrew calendar of lunar events.
10. Was born on the night of the sixth Full Moon.
11. Died between the evenings on the 14th counted from the Full New Moon Day of Rosh Hashanah in spring.
12. Fulfilled over three hundred prophesies.
13. Ate only Bible/Torah based foods, no pork, etc.
14. Provided Salvation, the only way back to the Father.

Prayer:

Heavenly Father, Yahuah Alahim,
we come before You with grateful hearts for the mystery revealed through Naomi and Ruth.

Its a testimony of Your redeeming love that reaches across all peoples.

Teach us to walk in humility and truth, holding fast to Your Torah and the testimony of Yahusha the Messiah, that we may be found in Your light.
Stir within us a heart like Ruth, to cling to You faithfully and to bless the heritage You have established from the beginning.
Restore what has been scattered, and bring unity where there has been division, that Your purposes may be fulfilled in their appointed time and worship rhythm.
May we each respond to Your calling, returning to Your ancient paths, and be counted among those who help bring Your story to its glorious completion.

Barak hashem Yahusha haMashiach!
(Bless the name of Yahusha the Messiah!)
