

Shabbat Shalom to all who worship Yahuah Alahim and Yahusha haMashiach on their Kadosh (set-apart) New/Renewed Moons, Lunar Sabbaths, and Feast Days according to the full moon as the start of His lunar months!

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FUb6QjzvRXU

Today is the 29th day of our Creator's Seventh Lunar Month count, in which the year begins in the spring. It is also the authentic fourth lunar Sabbath of the month. It looks like 07-29-5995. It coincides with the Roman Gregorian calendar planetary date of Sun, 10-25-2026.

Our Creator placed His full moon beacon as the original New Moon and the start of His months, high above for all to see. All praise to Yahuah Alahim for His steadfast love and compassion for His children and His patience in restoring His lost truths in preparation for the Second Coming of His Son, Yahusha haMashiach (the Messiah). Simply because the full moon as New Moon, with its count to Lunar Sabbaths and annual Feast Days, is not popular among the Rabbinical Pharisee Jews or the Romanized Christian churches today, does in no way diminish its LIGHT OF TRUTH shining from the pages of Scripture and His Eternal Throne. Only Yahuah's Ruach (power, presence, and provision) gives those who seek Him with all their hearts "eyes to see and ears to hear." Ask Him today to reveal His New Moon and lunar Sabbath to you and see how your life will change as your soul temple is synchronized to His for all eternity.

Tomorrow, the day after the Sabbath, is the sacred New Moon Day and first day of the Eighth Lunar Month.

"Blessed are those who hear the joyful call to worship, for they will walk in the light of your presence, Yahuah. They rejoice all day long in your wonderful reputation. They exult in your righteousness." Psalms 89:15-16

THE BRIDE AND GROOM IN THE MARRIAGE CHAMBER

Jonathan Cahn

"I was thinking of the wedding celebration," I said. "We left at the beginning…but it went on."

"Yes," said the teacher, "for seven days."

"I would have loved to have seen some of it."

"That celebration is long over," he said, "but there was another bride, the one you saw when I spoke of the calah. And right now she's in the midst of her seven days. Would you like to see it?"

"My answer was, of course, yes. So, we journeyed to the tent village where the celebration was still in full bloom. It was evening when we arrived. We followed the sound of laughter and singing and made our way to the celebration. The bride and groom were inside a festive-looking tent made of thin white fabric. The light inside the tent caused their shadows to appear on the tent walls. There were others with them, their family and friends, but only the silhouette of the bride and groom could be seen through the tent wall from where we were standing.

"What's happening? I asked.

"The bride and groom are surrounded by celebration and yet are also to themselves, alone in the midst of the celebration. Up to this point they've only seen each other in the midst of other things, mediators, rituals, families, villages, bridesmaids, and groomsmen. But now for the first time they're sitting in each other's presence, and everything around them fades into the background…It's a picture of the end."

"Of the end?"

"At the wedding celebration, when the bride and the Groom dwell in each other's presence. When the bride sees the Groom with no more mediation. Up to then we will have seen Him through other things, through His blessings, through His creation, His people, and His working in our lives …But then we will see Him with no more mediation. As it is written, in heaven there will be no temple. For Yahuah Alahim Himself (God) will be our temple. And there will be no more need for the sun to give light, for He will be our light. Then it will be as if it was only the Bridegroom and us …only Him and you …Then you will see Him as He is …and always was …but now face-to-face …And everything else will fade away into the background …just the bride and the Bridegroom …you …and the One for whom you were brought into existence …alone together …as if for the first time …you and Him …in the bridal chamber … and nothing else."

The Mission: Today, enter into the marital chamber and dwell there with your beloved, you and Yahusha alone, and nothing else. Song of Solomon 1:4; 2:14; 1 Corinthians 13:12; Revelation 22:4.

The Marriage Covenant Fulfilled and Eternity Begins

The beautiful picture presented by Jonathan Cahn invites us to consider the ultimate purpose of Yahuah's Plan of Salvation: the everlasting union of the Bride and her Bridegroom. Throughout Scripture, the marriage covenant reveals far more than the joining of two hearts. It portrays the sacred relationship Yahuah has desired with His covenant people from the beginning. From the Exodus, when Yasharal (Israel) was called out of Egyptian bondage, to the covenant established at Mount Sinai, the Heavenly Father was preparing a people to become His faithful Bride.

The Sanctuary, its sacrifices, its priesthood, and its appointed times all pointed forward to the day when separation would finally end. In Song of Solomon 1:4, the Bride joyfully declares, "The king hath brought me into his chambers: we will be glad and rejoice in thee." What a remarkable picture of the redeemed! After a lifetime of preparation, testing, repentance, and faithful obedience, the Bride is finally welcomed into the intimate presence of the One who loved her before she fully understood His love. The journey that began with deliverance from bondage reaches its glorious fulfillment in the marriage chamber, where the Bride and Bridegroom are together at last.

Yet the preparation of the Bride has never been separated from the sacred appointments established by her Creator. Throughout our studies of the Exodus, the manna, Mount Sinai, and the Sanctuary, we have discovered a beautiful relationship between divinely appointed TIME and redemptive EVENT. Yahuah's New Moons, seventh-day Sabbaths, and annual Feast Days were not merely ceremonial observances. They were sacred appointments through which He revealed His character, His covenant promises, and the unfolding Plan of Salvation. Psalm 104:19 declares, "He appointed the moon for seasons," identifying the heavenly luminary associated with His mo'edim, His lunar-appointed times. Within the restored calendar presented in our studies, the full New Moon announces the beginning of the monthly count, while the Sabbaths and annual Feasts provide recurring opportunities for the Bride to meet with her Bridegroom. These sacred appointments become rehearsals of the greater union yet to come. Just as an earthly bride prepares herself for the wedding day, the faithful Bride learns to recognize her Bridegroom's voice, honor His invitations, and walk in harmony with His appointed rhythm. Revelation 19:7 declares, "For the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready." The preparation is not simply knowing who the Bridegroom is, but learning to love Him enough to follow wherever and whenever He leads.

Consider also the extraordinary significance of the veil. Under the earthly Sanctuary system, the Most Kadosh Place was separated by a veil, and only the high priest could enter beyond it on the appointed Day of Atonement. There, before the Mercy Seat, was represented the sacred presence of Yahuah. This separation illustrated the terrible consequences of sin and humanity's need for reconciliation. Yet through the sacrifice and priestly ministry of Yahusha haMashiach, the WAY into the Father's presence has been opened (Hebrews 10:19-22).

What was once approached through symbols, sacrifices, and priestly mediation will ultimately become an everlasting reality. Paul describes our present understanding as seeing "through a glass, darkly," but promises that one day we shall see "face to face" (1 Corinthians 13:12). Revelation 22:4 carries that promise to its glorious conclusion: "And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads." Imagine the overwhelming joy of that moment! The Bride who once sought her Beloved through prayer, Scripture, and the evidences of His providence will finally behold Him without the limitations of this fallen world. The longing expressed in Song of Solomon 2:14, "Let me see thy countenance, let me hear thy voice," will find its everlasting answer.

The seven-day wedding celebration described by Jonathan Cahn also brings to mind the prophetic beauty of the Feast of Tabernacles, Yahuah's appointed seven-day celebration of rejoicing and dwelling together (Leviticus 23:34, 42-43). During Yasharal's wilderness journey, temporary shelters reminded the people that their earthly dwelling was not their final home. They were pilgrims traveling toward the Promised Land, sustained by the presence and provision of their Heavenly Father. Likewise, the faithful Bride has journeyed through the wilderness of this world, learning dependence, obedience, patience, trust, and synchronizing her soul temple with His.

The Feast of Tabernacles points our hearts toward the greater fulfillment when the redeemed shall dwell forever in the presence of Yahuah. Revelation 21:3 announces, "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them." The temporary shelters will give way to an eternal dwelling; the wilderness journey will end; and the lessons learned through every appointed season will culminate in everlasting fellowship. Revelation 21:22-23 further reveals that no earthly temple will be needed in the New Jerusalem, for Yahuah Alahim and the Lamb are its temple, and His glory illuminates the city. The seven-day wedding celebration and the Feast of Tabernacles are distinct biblical settings, yet together they offer a beautiful picture of rejoicing, covenant fulfillment, and the promised joy of dwelling with our Creator.

Finally, imagine the Bride and Bridegroom alone together in the marriage chamber, gazing into one another's eyes with a love that has endured every trial and a hope that has become reality. There is no longer any fear of separation, no uncertainty concerning the future, no sin to interrupt their fellowship, and no sorrow to diminish their joy.

The Bride has been washed, clothed in righteousness, and prepared for the One who gave everything to redeem her. The Bridegroom has fulfilled His promises, conquered death, and brought His beloved safely home.

The voices of the wedding celebration may continue beyond the chamber, but in that sacred moment, everything else fades into the background. There is only the overwhelming wonder of being known, loved, and welcomed forever. Revelation 21:4 assures us that Yahuah shall wipe away every tear, and death, sorrow, crying, and pain shall be no more.

Here the entire Plan of Salvation reaches its magnificent purpose: not merely deliverance from sin, but restoration to the intimate fellowship for which humanity was created. The sacred appointments have taught the Bride when to meet her Beloved; the Sanctuary has revealed the WAY into His presence; and Yahusha has made that eternal union possible.

The Bride has come home. The Marriage Covenant is fulfilled. And what began as a journey through appointed TIME has become an eternity of love, where the Bride and her Bridegroom shall never again be separated.

Prayer

Everlasting Father Yahuah Alahim,
We praise You for Your glorious Plan of Salvation, revealed through Your sacred appointments and fulfilled in the everlasting union of the Bride and her Bridegroom.
Thank You for sending Yahusha haMashiach, whose sacrifice has opened the WAY beyond the veil, where sin and separation shall never again come between us and Your holy presence.

Prepare our hearts to be a faithful and spotless Bride, clothed in His righteousness, eagerly awaiting the glorious Marriage Supper of the Lamb.
May we remain steadfast in love, obedience, and devotion until that blessed moment when we behold our beloved Bridegroom face-to-face and enter the marriage chamber of eternal fellowship.
Oh, what unspeakable joy awaits us when every tear is wiped away, every promise is fulfilled, and we dwell together in perfect love throughout the endless ages of eternity. Amen.

Barak hashem Yahusha haMashiach!
(Bless the name of Yahusha the Messiah!)
